The remains were interred beside those of her husband and children in the Gap Cemetery. Mary Jane Stephenson was born in Sylvester, Green County on July 26, 1854. She was the daughter of Nathaniel and Nancy Ann Stephenson. She lived with her parents on the farm during her early life, attending the district school and later attended school in Albany where she fitted herself for teaching. She followed her chosen profession in the public school in Green County for 16 years with great success. On June 3, 1878 she married Isaiah Zentner. The remained for a short time in Sylvester and then moved to Clay County, Kansas, returning thence to Green County and living in Monroe and Decatur Townships. The family then moved to Wood County, Wisconsin where the husband and father passed away on Sept. 22, 1901. In 1906 she moved to Albany, accompanied by her sons Harry and Victor, continuing her resident here until her decease on Feb. 21, 1910. She was the mother of four boys, Ora and Freddie, who preceded her and Harry and Victor who were with her at the time of her departure. Besides her two sons she is survived by one sister Mrs. Emma Edwards of Marshall, Minnesota and one brother, Byron of Albany. When she was 17 years of age, she united with the Monticello Prairie Baptist Church, being baptized in the Sugar River at Albany. She afterwards took her membership to the Disciples Church at Monroe. She lived a consistent Christian life, always being active as a worker in the church as her circumstances would permit, never missing a service if she could possibly attend. She was a woman of unusually keen intellectual powers and fond of literature. As a personal friend, she permitted none to excel her in loyalty, always fearlessly defending and aggressively opposing adverse comment upon those who were fortunate enough to win her regard.

Albany Vindicator, March 10, 1910

Birth, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Francis, last Saturday, a son.

Mary Walker, daughter of George and Anne Walker was born in Broadbotham, Chestershire, England on July 4, 1823. For one year, he was employed as a teacher in the district school and later for two years in the grade school in Albany. He afterwards took a course in short hand, typewriting and bookkeeping and banking, fully setting himself for a career. After serving some time in the Albany Exchange Bank he secured a position as bank clerk with the Continental National Bank of Chicago which he held to the time of his death. Deceased united with the Methodist Episcopal Church of Albany in 1901, becoming active and helpful in his Christian life. On going to Chicago, he soon found a home in the church of his choice. For nearly two years past he was a member of the Wheaton Methodist Church in Evanston, Illinois. He was in every way a consistent Christian young man. Retiring in his disposition, dignified and graceful in bearing, attractive in form and carriage, polite in manners and sweet in spirit, he won a host of true friends. His methods of Christian work were quiet and unassuming, ever going about doing good, like his Divine Master whom he delighted to honor. Those who knew him will delight to cherish his name and memory. He left behind to suffer his loss and to fondly cherish the hope of meeting him again in the better world, his father and mother, one sister Miss Laura Jones, together with other relatives, and a host of loyal friends. The funeral was held from the A.M.E. Church on Thursday afternoon conducted by his Evanston pastor, Rev. W.J. Hyde and the services were largely attended by sympathetic friends. The floral tributes were unusually profuse and handsome.

They came to Wisconsin in 1854 settling on a farm three miles south of Albany where they resided until 1888 when they removed to Albany which has since been the family home. He passed peacefully into the beyond on Saturday, July 2 aged 83 years, 10 months and 28 days. One daughter and one son are deceased. Seven sons and nine grandchildren remain to mourn their loss. He united with the Monticello Prairie Baptist Church about 1873 although he has always lived a conscientious Christian life. He transferred his membership to the First Baptist Church of Albany in August of 1881, remaining a thoroughly consistent member until his death. He served the church as deacon, trustee, and clerk, serving in the latter capacity for ten consecutive years. His term as deacon extended over a 16 year period. In whatever capacity he acted he was always faithful and never having engaged in the turmoil and strife or warfare and he was excelled by few if any in those qualities of character which go to make up the patriotism of peace. We note the passing of a man who was honored and esteemed by all who knew him for his worth as a neighbor and a friend. The memory of him will long remain. The funeral was held from the Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon by Rev. C.D. Mayhew, his pastor, and the remains interred in the family lot in the Dawson Cemetery. The six youngest sons acted as pall bearers.

Mrs. Betsey E. Roberts, wife of Dr. G.W. Roberts, was born on the 27th June, 1840 in Bergen, Norway. She came to America with her parents who settled in Wisconsin when she was four years of age. Their home was near Stoughton in Dane County. She lived there until she was 17 when she married George W. Roberts on May 3, 1857. They moved to Albany in the fall of 1867 where they have since resided. To this union were born five sons, Walter C., William D., Fred H., Leonard G., and E. Warren Roberts. William, Fred and Warren still survive. Mrs. Roberts joined the M.E. Church about forty years ago. Since that time she has lived the life of a consistent Christian, a friend and helper to the needy, a loving mother and a faithful wife. None but words of loving charity ever fell from her lips. Such ideals of life as she exemplified more in action than in word must ever be an inspiration to those who know her best. The last five years of her life were full of suffering which was borne uncomplainingly and cheerfully. She passed to her reward on Sept. 11. Funeral services were held at the home Monday afternoon by rev. G.N. Foster of Brodhead who preached a good, helpful sermon. The remains were interred in the Albany cemetery.

Jacob Voegeli of Monroe hung himself by a rope in the cellar at his home Monday morning. He was about 63 years old and left a wife and four children. The death of his son-in-law Fred Kundert which occurred Sunday seems to have unsettled his mind. A double funeral of the two men will be held today.

The Vindicator has a card from the postmaster of Marshalltown, Iowa announcing the death of our former townsman A.D. Smith, better known as Alba to his friends. Mr. Smith has lived at the Soldier's Home at Marshalltown for quite a number of years and was a regular subscriber to this paper.

A pretty home wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Lewis in Mt. Pleasant at high noon on October 12 when their daughter Bessie was married to Howard E. Loftin of Madison, Tennessee. Elder Oberholtzer of Madison, Wisconsin, performed the ceremony. The wedding march was played by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Josie Parlein(?) and Bessie Silver, cousin to the bride, was bridesmaid and Jessie E. Lewis, brother of the bride, was best man. The bride looked charming in a dress of lavender mull. Mrs. Loftin is a charming young lady who has a host of friends. Her occupation was that of school teacher for a number of years being spent at the Madison, Tennessee Normal School. Mr. Loftin is a young man of pleasing address, exemplary habits, Christian character and a member of the junior faculty at the Madison Normal. They were married under an archway of lavender and white with asters and dahlias, the background of autumn leaves. The dining room was in red and white. After the ceremony the guests partook of a wedding dinner. The happy couple boarded the 3:20 train at Broderick's Crossing, wishing them a safe journey to their home at Madison, Tennessee.

At high noon on Monday, October 16 at the home of J.L. Lewis, occurred the marriage of Neva E. Lewis to Everett G. Peckham. Mrs. Peckham is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and Mr. Peckham is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Peckham of this place. Both young people were born and raised in this locality where they have a large circle of friends and relatives who esteem them most highly. Mrs. Peckham is in every way a womanly young lady, a teacher who is beloved and respected by her scholars and by the pupils of every school where she has taught. The ceremony was performed under a huge bower of red and gold autumn leaves by Rev. Pengilly and the couple was attended by Miss Fay Flint, cousin of the bride and Lester Peckham, brother of the groom. The bride was dressed in a gown of creamed colored nuns-veiling trimmed with lace and the maid-of-honor in a similar gown of white. Immediately following the ceremony a most elaborate wedding dinner was served. The wedding was private, only the immediate family and a few friends were present. The bridal couple was escorted to Brodhead where they took the afternoon train to Chicago from where they will go on an extended trip through Nebraska. On their return, they will go onto the Peckham farm south of town which Mr. Peckham has rented from his father.

Mrs. James Flood died Tuesday, Oct. 12(?) at 3:30 pm. Bridget(?) Martin(?) was born in Longford(?) Langford(?) (place illegible) in 1831(?). She came to this country at an early age and on July 3, 1857(?) was married to James Flood. They lived on a farm near Brooklyn village where she resided until 1903 when she came to Albany at which place she has since made her home. Mrs. Flood was the mother of eight children, three of whom with her husband preceded her to the grave. The five remaining children are William of Elroy, Wisconsin; Maria and Rev. Thomas of Vermillion, S.D. and Julian and Peter of this village. Funeral services were held at St. Patrick's Church Saturday morning, October 15, at 10:00 and the remains taken to Dayton for interment. Solemn high mass was celebrated by her son Rev. Thomas Flood, Rev. Smith, acting as deacon and Rev. Fitzgerald of Evansville as sub-deacon. Father Smith preached the sermon in which he spoke of her in words of highest commendation. Although Mrs. Flood spent but a few years of her long, useful life in Albany she made many friends. She was a noble Christian woman.

Albany Vindicator, November 10, 1910

Mrs. Ida Ruby of Waseka, Minn., was here the first of the week to attend the golden wedding anniversary of her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. S.H. Flint.

J.C. Baker of Monroe, a former poor commissioner of the county and an old soldier, was found dead in his home in Monroe early on Friday morning. Whether his death was due to asphyxiation or heart failure seems not to have been determined. He was 77 years old and is survived by three children.

Our well known and popular citizens, Mr. and Mrs. S.H. Flint celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary last Monday. The six children, 13 grandchildren and close relatives to the number of 80 were present for the occasion. A big dinner was served and the day was one of pleasure.

Died, at the home of his daughter Mrs. Charles Morgan, L.H. Warren, on November 6. He was born in Hogansburgh, Franklin Co., N.Y. on Sept. 30, 1830. In 1838 he came to Milwaukee with his parents who from there proceeded to a farm near Janesville, where they lived until 1841. They then settled on a farm in the town of Union, now known as Center. In 1850 he came to Albany to engage in the mercantile business with his brothers. In this village he has since spent the greater part of his life. He married on March 26, 1854 Martha Stanley who preceded him in death on June 7, 1906. Four children were born to them: Frank S., Carrie Morgan, Fred L. and Eva L., who departed this world on Feb. 18, 1900. A firm believer in Spiritualism, death came to him as an open doorway through which his tired feet gladly trod. The funeral services were conducted by Mrs. Ford Pierce of Brooklyn at the home of his daughter Mrs. Charles Morgan on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 8.

The marriage of Erna Hein and Harry Zentnor took place yesterday morning at 8:00 at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hein, Rev. C.D. Mayhew officiating. The happy couple were attended by Miss Gertrude Schultz and Marion Davis. After the ceremony, the wedding party drove down to Brodhead where Mr. and Mrs. Zentner took the train east for a wedding trip. The bride is a beautiful and accomplished young lady who has spent the greater part of her life thus far in Albany and the groom who has resided here a number of years has many friends. Mr. Zentner is the senior partner in the firm of Zentner and Mitchell, proprietors of the meat market, a good businessman and popular and successful.
